

Revolut Biometric Information Notice

Last Updated: June 8, 2026

In order to enhance the security and accuracy of our identity verification process, Revolut Technologies Inc. (hereinafter, "Revolut"), may collect personal data and information from or about you, including biometric data and biometric identifiers collected from your faceprint, a selfie, photograph, video recordings, government-issued identification, including information contained within the barcode, and other media (collectively "Biometric Information"), as further described in Revolut's Privacy Policy. Specifically, you will be instructed to use your phone's camera to scan your face with a photo or video recording that is submitted through Revolut's mobile application. Revolut will then scan and map your facial features in order to verify your identity and allow you to initially create your Revolut account and to access your Revolut account going forward.

Before proceeding, please carefully read the following consent form. By providing your Biometric Information, you acknowledge and agree to the collection, use, processing, and storage of your Biometric Information as outlined below.

1. Collection of Biometric Information:

By providing your Biometric Information, you consent to the collection, use, processing, and storage of your biometric data, which includes but is not limited to facial features extracted from photo images and video recordings. This data will be used for the purpose of verifying your identity and allowing you to create and access your Revolut account.

2. Purpose of Collection:

Your Biometric Information will be used to verify your identity during account creation, login access, and other security processes. It will help ensure that you, and only you, have access to your Revolut account.

3. Data Storage and Security:

Your Biometric Information will be securely stored in encrypted form on our servers and will be retained for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes for which it was collected, or as required by applicable law. We implement strict security measures to protect your Biometric Information from unauthorized access, disclosure, or loss.

4. Sharing of Data:

Your Biometric Information will not be sold, leased, or traded. We may share your Biometric Information with trusted third-party service providers solely for the purpose of identity verification, and these providers are bound by strict confidentiality agreements.

5. Retention Period:

We retain biometric information only for as long as necessary to fulfill the purpose for which it was collected and will permanently destroy such information when that purpose has been satisfied, or within the period required by applicable law.

6. Your Rights:

You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. You may also request access to, correction, or deletion of your Biometric Information by contacting us at dpo@revolut.com. Please note that withdrawing consent may affect your ability to use or access your Revolut account.

7. Consent Acknowledgment:

By clicking "Agree and Continue" or providing your selfie, video recording, or government-issued identification, you confirm that you have read and understood this Revolut Biometric Information Notice, and you voluntarily consent to the collection, use, processing, and storage of your Biometric Information as described.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this Notice or your biometric data, please contact us at dpo@revolut.com.
